

Freelancer Producers/Content Producers Needed

Calling all freelance producers. Due to very successful sales activities we are looking for talented freelance event professionals right across the UK.

You will be helping us lead events from creative concepts through to delivery, responsible for delighting our clients with your ideas and skills, whilst able to manage a show's budget to commercial targets.

Messaging and content development is key to your role, as is a thorough appreciation of technical production. Excellent organisational and people management skills are a must.

If you can demonstrate a proactive, organised and methodical attitude alongside a commercially astute mind and a naturally collaborative persona, you might just be right for us and we might be right for you.

Above all, we are looking for intelligent, lateral thinkers who are passionate about production and seek to deliver outstanding projects, whilst constantly pushing the boundaries.
